Summary

On this last Sunday of the liturgical year, we reflect on the day we will meet Christ face to face. We began this important message two Sundays ago when the readings encouraged us and the children to prepare for the end times. Last week, the readings invited us to consider how we have spent the time waiting for Christ. This week's readings add another nuance: Did we recognize that Christ was always with us, especially in the poor?

- + Review the background.
- + Reflect upon the reflection questions.

Environment and Materials

Insight

Ancient people considered their kings to be shepherds of the people. During times of drought, the leaders provided food. They were expected to provide protection against invaders. When the kings failed the people, the Israelites in captivity realized their dependency on God. Christ as divine ruler is the shepherd-king who willingly cares and goes out of the way to gather strays. The shepherd gives his life's blood for the salvation of all.

Christ identifies so much with his own that our hungers are his hungers; our thirsts are his thirsts, and our misery is his pain. Divine royalty is hidden in the least powerful of those among us. Even if we do not know it, what we do for them we do for Christ, but when we avert our eyes from the plight of the needy, we neglect Jesus.

Background

- Jesus' first public teaching was during the Sermon on the Mount. Today's Gospel is his last public teaching.
- ⁺ In the past two weeks, we heard parables regarding being prepared for the coming of the Son of Man. The Son of Man is the King Jesus.
- Today's Gospel leaves no room for doubt about the behaviours that demonstrate good and wise preparation and the proper use of what we have been given.
- Anticipating the commission to preach the Gospel to all nations, we read that the King or the Son of Man (Jesus) will judge all the nations. No one will be exempt from God's scrutiny.
- + As in last week's parable, there is no middle ground: every person has lived as a sheep or a goat.
- * Although Jesus shared a preaching mission with his disciples, nothing about this judgment concerns professions of faith or formal religious observances.
- ⁺ The Shepherd is the King of the entire universe. His flock includes everyone, and his criterion of judgment has to do with nothing other than the well- being of the flock.
- Jesus conquered evil, and his sheep continued his mission, whether or not they realized it.
- What the King expects of his sheep you, me and all his disciples are the simplest services possible.
- Jesus expects his disciples to respond to the most basic human needs: food and water, clothing and shelter, and care for the incapacitated.
- ⁺ The Gospel conveys that if we want a share in the kingdom of the divine Shepherd, we must seek and serve him by serving those in need.

Prayer Leader Reflection Questions

- + What corporal works of mercy do you practice regularly?
- + What other corporal works of mercy can you incorporate into your life?
- * As we approach the end of the liturgical year, what changes might you make in the celebrations beginning in Advent?

The Liturgy

Procession from the main Church

After the opening prayer, when all are seated, the leaders come forward and stand facing the altar.

Priest: Dear children, Jesus is King forever and reigns with love, the same love he shows for the least among our sisters and brothers. Listen and learn from him that he may love the least ones through you.

One of the leaders carries the Book of God's Word, held high for all to see. The second leader assists by directing the children. When most of the children have formed a procession, the leader with the book proceeds to the place of the celebration. The second leader usually walks behind the children. Upon arrival at the location of the celebration, the leader places the book on the prepared table.

Welcome.

The leaders assist the children to sit, welcome them and participate in the prayer, helping them to settle.

The leader may say the prayer.

O God, help us to understand your Word with open hearts and increase our faith. Through Christ our Lord.

Invite the children to sit and listen to the readings.

Gospel

The children stand for the Gospel. The leader proclaims the Gospel.

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Matthew.

All respond: Glory to you, Lord. All sign themselves on the forehead, lips and breast.

Jesus said to his disciples:

"When the King comes in his glory, and all the angels with him, then he will sit on the throne of his glory.

All the people of the world will come to him, and he will separate them just like a shepherd separates the sheep from the goats, and he will put the sheep at his right hand and the goats at the left.

Then the King will say to those at his right hand, 'Come, you that my Father blesses, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world; for I was hungry, and you gave me food, I was thirsty, and you gave me something to drink, I was a stranger, and you welcomed me, I was naked, and you gave me clothing, I was sick and you took care of me, I was in prison and you visited me.'

Then the people will answer him, 'Lord, when was it that we saw you hungry and gave you food, or thirsty and gave you something to drink? And when did we see you a stranger and welcome you, or naked and give you clothing? And when was it that we saw you sick or in prison and visited you?'

And the King will answer them, 'Just as you did it to one of the least of these, you did it to me.'

The Gospel of the Lord.

The leader concludes the Gospel with The Gospel of the Lord. All respond: Praise to you, Lord Jesus Christ. The children sit to listen to the reflection.

Reflection (Two Options)

The leader may offer either of these reflections in these or similar words. Please consider the amount of time available to return to the main assembly. The leader may wish to reduce the number of questions.

Option 1

Today is a special feast in the church year.

Do you know what it is?

(it is the end of the church year when we celebrate Christ the King – ask the children to repeat).

What does 'Christ the King' mean?

(Jesus will come back at the end of time to judge all people. He will sort out the good from the bad).

Jesus tells us in the Gospel today that he wants us to care for one another.

Can you remember what these things were?

(Feed and clothe the hungry and needy, care for the sick, welcome strangers)

The Gospel reminds us of the message that Jesus has brought us week after week. He wants us to be loving and caring towards each other.

Who are the people hungry or thirsty that need our help? How can we help them?

(We could contribute to groups such as St Vincent de Paul, food banks, etc.)

Jesus said, "Whenever you did it for any of my people, no matter how unimportant they seemed, you did it for me."

Option 2

During the past weeks, when we have been here at Mass, we have heard that we should prepare, be alert and use our gifts well. These messages help our hearts get ready for the new season of Advent. Next Sunday, we celebrate Advent. Today, we learn why Jesus tells us why it's important to prepare, be careful and use our gifts well. Jesus wants us to always live with God in this world and the next. When we care for others, we are living close to God.

When has one of us seen someone hungry? Thirsty? Unwelcome? Poorly clothed?

Jesus wants us to know that how we serve our neighbours in need counts. When we serve them, we are serving Jesus.

How do you respond to those in need?

Did it change your attitude to helping others?

The Church has always helped the sick, the hungry and those who are in need.

Are there ways that you and your family might become more involved in helping people in need?

During the week, think about how you and your family can help your neighbours in need and know that you are helping others and Jesus.

Following the reflection, the prayer leader invites everyone to stand to profess our faith. Together, sing or recite the Apostles' or Nicene Creed. Refer the children to the words of the prayer that you have displayed. Following the reflection, the prayer leader invites everyone to stand to profess our faith.

Together, recite the Creed.

The Creed Depending on the time, a simple profession of faith may be made (see below).

Leader:	Do you believe in God, the Father Almighty, maker of heaven and earth?
All:	We do believe.
Leader:	Do you believe in Jesus Christ, his only Son, who became our brother and gave his life for us?
All:	We do believe.
Leader:	Do you believe in the Holy Spirit who lives in our hearts and gives us everlasting life?
All:	We do believe.
Leader:	This is our faith. This is the faith of the Church. We are proud to profess it.

Prayer of the Faithful

Invite the children to think of the needs of others and to announce their petitions. The leaders may begin the intercessions by announcing the needs they know. It may be necessary for the leader to repeat and/or paraphrase the petition and conclude it with the cue for the response: For this, we pray. All respond to each petition by saying: Lord, hear our prayer. Sample intercessions are below.

- Leader: We listened to God's Word and now pray to our God who loves us. The response is: Lord, hear our prayer.
- That the Church finds ways to reach out to those who need help.
 Let us pray to the Lord.
 R Lord, hear our prayer.
- That God helps us care for people who need our assistance.
 Let us pray to the Lord.
 R Lord, hear our prayer.
- That God will heal the sick and give compassion to those who care for them. Let us pray to the Lord.
 R Lord, hear our prayer.
- The leader may invite other intercessions from the children or add intercessions based on the Church's current needs, the world, or the local community.
- For all those who have died, may God's eternal happiness will be their treasure forever.

Let us pray to the Lord.	R	Lord, hear our prayer.
--------------------------	---	------------------------

Leader: In your goodness, O God, you sent Jesus as our Shepherd. We offer you our prayers and for the grace to help our neighbours in need.

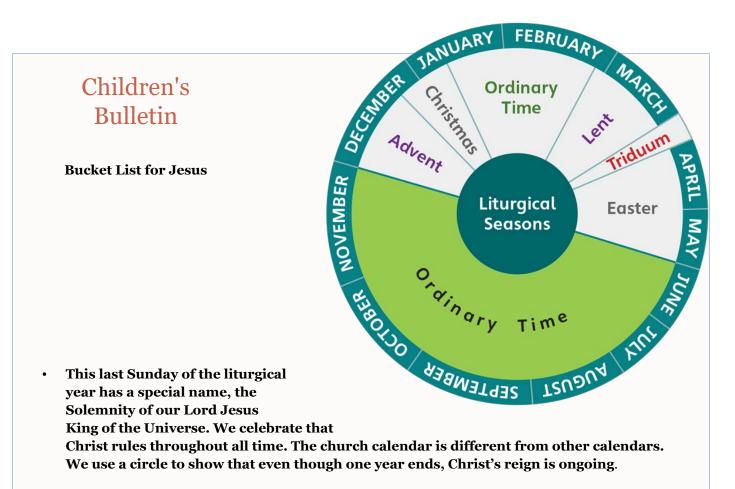

The leader may invite other intercessions from the children or add intercessions based on the Church's current needs, the world, or the local community.

Ask the children to return to the main assembly. Ask them to return quietly and perhaps think about what they have heard and are now doing.

Be mindful of children having difficulty finding their families.

- We will begin a new church year next week. The four weeks before Christmas are the season of Advent.
- Other liturgical seasons follow. Christmas season is about three weeks. Then we have several weeks of Ordinary Time. Lent is six weeks. Then Easter season is eight weeks. The remainder of the year is Ordinary Time again, and then the year begins anew.
- Advent and Lent are shown in violet to remind us to turn away from sin. For Christmas and Easter, the color is white to represent joy. Weeks of Ordinary Time are green, the color of eternal hope. You will color in the calendar later.

During the end of the church year we hear Scripture readings that encourage to us to use our time on earth doing good actions, such as, the corporal works of mercy. Some of you may have heard of an idea called "a bucket list." This is a list some people make of the things they want to do. For most people, this is a selfish "I want" list, but Christians can use the same idea as a "Bucket List for Jesus."

In the sections of your liturgical calendar, draw pictures or write your bucket list. These are things you would like to do for Jesus based on the corporal works of mercy. You may not be able to do some of them until years from now. For example, someday you may go to a poor African village to help dig a water well or you might become a prison minister.
